ABSTRACT

This volume reports the findings of a word frequency count for all selections in the Oriya textbook series including the 13 stories in "Graded Readings in Oriya," the eight stories in "Oriya Short Stories," and each of the three Oriya novels. The report is presented in the form of a grid. Each entry in the grid gives the number of a particular word in a particular story. The author suggests that students may wish to use the word count as a checklist to test his control of the vocabulary for any of the stories listed. Some 5,683 items are listed. For the companion documents see FL 002 543, FL 002 544, FL 002 545, FL 002 546, FL 002 547, FL 002 548, and FL 002 599. (RL)

FOREWORD

This volume reports the findings of a word frequency count performed for all selections in the Oriya Language Textbook Series--the thirteen stories in Graded Readings in Oriya, the eight in Oriya Short Stories, and each of the Three Oriya Novels. All of this information was used in determining the order in which the stories are presented in the two collections.

The report is presented in the form of a grid. Each entry in the grid gives the number of occurrences of a particular word in a particular story. The vertical grid coordinates are the words themselves, reading in alphabetical order down the pages. The horizontal coordinates are the numbers of the stories.

The story numbers were assigned arbitrarily at the outset of the research, and bear no necessary relation to the order in which the stories appear in the volumes in the Series; with the exception that all stories of Volume Three (Graded Readings in Oriya) are grouped together in the left-hand section of the grid, the stories of Volume Five (Oriya Short Stories) are grouped to the right of these, and the Three Oriya Novels are grouped further right. The rightmost column gives for each word the total number of its occurrences in the entire Series. The Collation Tables interconvert the arbitrary story numbers and the story titles and locations within the Series.

The student user of this word count can use it as a checklist to test his control of the vocabulary for any of the stories, by reading down the corresponding column on each page; definitions are provided for most of the words. (That not all of the words are glossed stems from a complex of circumstances which are interesting but not within the scope of these remarks.)

Further, this volume provides for teacher and student alike an account of the utility, in terms of reading efficiency within the Series, of any item in its entire vocabulary. This can provide guidance for the student's study efforts, and enables examination materials to be composed with vocabulary emphasis placed paralleling that of the readings themselves.

This volume is a report of the work of a sizeable staff, of whom the principal other members were Messrs. Jagabandhu Misra, Basant Kumar Das, and Bhikari Charan Naik, assisted by Prabodh Kumar Chand and Ambika Mohanty; their work was coordinated by my wife Susan, to whom special thanks are due: had she not been my wife, I should have been permitted to pay her for this full-time work. For their valued help in preparing the pages for reproduction, thanks go to Miss Susan Henoch and Mr. Wilbur Raml. The cover artwork is by Carol Henderson.

 Stories 446, 448, and 449 were removed from the draft contents of Volume 5 after the word count was well along; the count on these stories was completed, but it is a distressing circumstance that the project files now appear to contain no record of the identity of these stories.

TRANSLITERATION CHART

Correlating and contrasting the Oriya writing system with the two systems used in this Series for transliterating it: one, used in volumes 4, 6, and 7 (the glossaries); and the other, used in volume 8 (the word count). The Devanagari writing system is also displayed, for the reference of those familiar with it.
